The andersigs of having received a curse of lessons from Mr. Richardson, in his Academy, 235 Broadway, conceive it is duty to say, for the banels of those who are not a quainted with this gentleman, that they may place the highest confidence in his instructions. His system and manner of teaching is cattroly different from any other teacher with whom we have been acquirited and his success is not confined to any particular age: both young and old seem to acquire a full and suitefactry knowledge from his pain and interesting explanations, consisting of forty lessons.

Mr. Richardson's systems of Beak keeping and writin are considered among the best, and his success has bee witsout a single instance of dissatisfaction. And we divide the greatest pleasure, recommend him to our friend and follow-citizens, as a correct and very faithful teacher one that is every way qualified, having been for the largely ears, principal of the Commercial Department is several of the Boston Schools, and is highly recommende by the Mayor of Boston, and School Committee of sal Schools.
